Course description
This course will explore the interface of psychology and the law, with an emphasis on forensic psychology. Forensic psychologists help courts make informed decisions about cases when some aspect of psychology is involved. Landmark legal cases that pertain to psychology will be discussed. Students will explore the various options for careers in the field of forensic psychology. Specific topics covered include police psychology, eyewitness and expert testimony, jury selection, psychopathy, repressed memories, profiling, victimless crimes, the insanity defense, lie detection, and custody evaluations.

Course objectives:
- Understand what forensic psychologists do
- Identify the major areas of overlap between psychology and the law
- Know the leading terms, concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in the field of forensic psychology
- Identify the landmark legal cases that shaped the field of forensic psychology
- Explore the various career options in the field of forensic psychology, and the education and training required
- Understand methods of forensic assessment of criminals, victims, families
- Comprehend ethical principles and dilemmas that arise in areas that involve law and psychology
- Apply course material to real life experiences, both in one's own life and in a broader context
- Understand how media depictions of forensic psychology are similar to and differ from actual practice

Note that some material is of a sensitive and/or disturbing nature. If you have concerns, please let me know.

Course Policies

Disruptive behavior: Multitasking is not an effective way to learn. Talking, texting, playing computer games, taking selfies, loud gum chewing, etc. are activities that do not belong in the learning environment of a classroom and are distracting to those around you. Students who continually disrupt in this manner will be asked to leave class, and/or will have points deducted from their grade. Turn cell phone ringers off when class begins.

Recording class: Audio or video recording of any part of lecture is not permitted without expressed permission from the instructor.

Missed class: If you miss a class, make arrangements to get missed notes from a classmate and check the Powerpoints or any other materials posted from the class. It is a good idea to find one or two “buddies” to help you if you are absent. Please do not email us asking what you have missed.
Powerpoints will be posted AFTER each week’s class.

Missed exams: You may only miss an exam for a documented reason (in writing), and must make your request before the exam. Note that make-up exams may consist entirely of essays questions. Contact our TA, Laura Saad, to arrange a make-up exam.

All issues concerning quizzes, exams, clickers, and attendance should be addressed to Laura, our TA. You can cc: me if you’d like. Issues concerning course content should be addressed to me.

Your lowest 3 attendance scores will be dropped.

Grading
The grading breakdown will be as follows:

- Exam 1 – 25%
- Exam 2 – 25%
- Final exam (cumulative) – 30%
- Quizzes: some in class, some on Canvas: 15%
- Attendance, in-class activities, and participation – 5%

The following grading scale will be used:

- 90-100% = A
- 85-89% = B+
- 80-84% = B
- 75-79% = C+
- 70-74% = C
- 60-69% = D
- below 60% = F

Note that grades will NOT be rounded up under any circumstances. An 89.6 is a B+, not an A. There will also be no changing of grades for any reason other than a calculation error - student requests for grade changes due to scholarships, probation, etc. will not be honored under any circumstances in fairness to all students.

Exams
Anything mentioned in lecture is fair game. If you do not come to class, aside from losing attendance points and missing quizzes, you are putting yourself at a significant disadvantage. Exams will be in class and closed book. You may be tested on material in the book and not covered in lecture. If so, I will let you know in a review sheet before the exam.

Class participation iclicker
Class participation is worth 5% of your grade and will be assessed via iclicker (not including in-class quizzes). You may use iclicker2 or iclicker+, but not any of the cloud-based clickers. Turning Point clickers will not work.
I will be asking, on average, 10-15 questions per class. You must respond to at least 75% of the questions that class session to get credit. Your lowest three participation scores will be dropped. This will compensate for any technical problems, such as leaving your clicker at home, batteries dying, improper use, etc.

I will upload iclicker results to Canvas following each class. It is your responsibility to make sure your clicker is working properly.

Please note: If you are found using more than one clicker during class, all who are involved will receive an F for the participation portion of their grade. If this is a repeated offense, you will get an F for the course.

Extra Credit
You will be able to earn extra credit towards your final grade by visiting a courthouse or prison, observing proceedings, and submitting a journal entry about your experience. More details will be provided.

There may also be extra credit opportunities offered during class. These cannot be made up.

Note that extra credit can bump you to the next grade if you are close to the border. However, you will not be able to bridge a substantial gap by extra credit.

Academic Integrity
The consequences of scholastic dishonesty are very serious. Rutgers’ academic integrity policy is at http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/. Please familiarize yourself with the policy.

Academic integrity means, among other things:
- Develop and write all of your own assignments.
- Show in detail where the materials you use in your papers come from. Create citations whether you are paraphrasing authors or quoting them directly. Be sure always to show source and page number within the assignment and include a bibliography in the back.
- Do not fabricate information or citations in your work.
- Do not facilitate academic dishonesty for another student by allowing your own work to be submitted by others.

If you are in doubt about any issue related to plagiarism or scholastic dishonesty, please contact me.

Rutgers Academic Support Services
Rutgers has a variety of resources for academic support. For more information, check http://www.rutgers.edu/academics/academic-support
Rutgers has Learning Centers on each campus where any student can obtain tutoring and other help. For information, check http://lrc.rutgers.edu/

Rutgers also has a Writing Center where students can obtain help with writing skills and assignments. Learn more here: http://wp.rutgers.edu/tutoring/writingcenters
Rutgers Student Accommodations
The Rutgers Office of Disability Services evaluates students and provides documentation about necessary accommodations. Students who need accommodations in class must do so through the Rutgers Disabilities Services Office. See https://ods.rutgers.edu/students for details.

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations can do so here: http://disabilityservices.rutgers.edu/request.html

If you need special accommodations, let me know early in the semester. If you need extra time on exams, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the disability office to sign at least one week prior to the first exam.

Counseling
College can be an overwhelming time. If you find yourself having a difficult time coping, please refer to http://rhscaps.rutgers.edu/ where you can see an overview of support services available at Rutgers.

Communication
As noted above, for questions about attendance, quizzes, or exams, please contact Laura. You may also post on a general chat to ask questions about the course, policies, etc., and ask clarification questions that other students could benefit from. For content questions, contact me.

Before asking a question, read the syllabus thoroughly and look on our course site to see if your question was answered. When emailing, it is helpful to let me or Laura know what steps you took to find the answer.

When contacting us, always identify that you are in Forensic Psychology and sign with your full name.

Dropping the course
In order to withdraw from a course, it is not sufficient to stop coming to class or taking exams. In accord with university policy, students wishing to withdraw from a course must do so formally through the Registrar’s office. It is the student’s responsibility to complete all forms. If this is not done, the instructor must assign a grade of F at the end of the semester.

Diversity
Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, disability, age, or any other category covered by law in its admission, programs, activities, or employment matters. The Department of Psychology at Rutgers, New Brunswick is committed to promoting tolerance and respect for differences in the classroom and across campus. Students enrolled in this course are expected and required to treat all students with respect both inside and outside of the classroom.

Studying
Here are some tips to improve your study skills and increase your chances of doing well in the course.

- Form study and homework groups. Discussing material with others is a great way to aid retention.

- Distributed practice: don't cram. The more you space out your studying over a period of time, the more likely you'll be to remember the material.

- Self-testing and evaluation - frequent testing is one of the best ways to learn and retain information. Make sure to take all quizzes.

- Study actively. Make flash cards, write definitions, talk it out.

- Take frequent breaks when studying. People tend to remember the beginning and end of a study session best. Marathon sessions are usually exhausting and hamper long-term recall.
- SLEEP! Make sure to get adequate rest.

- Ask for help early in the semester when there is still enough time to address issues.
